Makes Exclusion of Japs a Possibility in United States

Proposed Immigration Restriction Act in the House of Representatives

WASHINGTON—Exclusion of Japanese immigrants and a reduction in the percentage of aliens admissible to the United States from European countries would be provided for by sections of a proposed Immigration Restriction Act, approved by the house immigration committee.

Japanese exclusion would be made possible, it was explained under a general provision of the bill which sets forth "that an immigrant not eligible to citizenship shall not be admitted to the United States."

To meet treaty stipulations exceptions would be made in the case of students who seek to enter the United States for the purpose of study at an educational institution, particularly designated for them.

As affecting European and the Near East peoples, the bill would reduce the quotas of immigrants from any one country in any one year to four hundred and in addition, two per cent, of the foreign-born individuals of such nationality resident in the United States as determined by the 1890 census. The present Restriction Act which this bill replaces and which expires on June 30th, 1924, places the quotas at three per cent, based on the census of 1910.

The number of immigrants who would be admissible in any one year under this provision is estimated at 186,437 as against the 358,837 annually under the present act. Like the present temporary restrictions law the proposed act would not operate against immigration from Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba and Central and South America, provided immigrants seeking admission to the United States had been resident in these countries for a period of five years.

FARMERS' GOVERNMENT DECLARE INTENTION NOT TO GIVE GUARANTEE FOR SEED GRAIN TO FARMERS IN FUTURE

This Will Work A Great Hardship on Farmers Who Have Looked To The Government

Premier Greenfield gave a statement to the Legislature Friday afternoon in which he declared it to be the intention of the Farmers' Government to stop further guarantee for distribution of Seed Grain to Farmers. His statement follows:

"Believing that the policy that has prevailed for some years of provincial guarantees for Seed Grain Advances is wrong in principle and should be discontinued, the government at its first regular session initiated a policy looking to the final termination of such advances. The effect of the Drought Area Relief Act has been to conserve adequate grain for seed grain purposes throughout the major part of that area."

"The experience of the province in past years in advancing Seed Grain has not been a happy one so they said."

The All Saints Ladies' Aid held an "At Home" at the Myrtle Hotel on Wednesday afternoon from 2 till 5, in honour of Mrs. Anderson a member of the Church and Aid, who is leaving Bow Island for the Coast and later to California, a good number of friends took the opportunity of calling on Mrs. Anderson on this occasion, tea being served during the afternoon and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. Anderson will be greatly missed in Bow Island, being one who always was to the fore in anything that was going on, the Aid will miss her very much indeed, she was always a cheerful worker and we are sorry to see her go away.

Mrs. Holman with a few appropriate words presented Mrs. Anderson on behalf of the All Saints Ladies' Aid with a very nice Ivory Photo Frame also a lovely Bouquet of Pink and White Carnations, as a small token of their appreciation of her work.

Mrs. Anderson spoke her thanks in well chosen words, and all joined in singing the only suitable chorus on such an occasion as this, "For she's a jolly good fellow" the Ladies of the Curling Club also took this occasion to present Mrs. Anderson with a very nice Fountain Pen, they also will miss Mrs. Anderson very much.

The visiting Lady Carriers were met upon their arrival here and taken to Mrs. Fuller's residence, where they were entertained to dinner and after the Curling games were over all went home with Mrs. Roach and the time was spent there until the train left for Lethbridge, Mrs. Roach serving lunch to them, to judge by the merry sounds at the depot they all had a good time.

Visiting Through Enthralled With Tomb of King

The tomb of King Tutankhamen was opened officially to visitors Sunday afternoon when about 100 distinguished persons were admitted to see the splendors.

The Queen of the Belgians, the crown prince and Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby and Lady Allenby were conducted into the tomb by Howard Carter. They were accompanied by Professor Lacau and M. Cappart, director of the museum at Brussels. Entering through the breach into the inner chamber, which was brilliantly lighted by electric lamps, the visitors exclaimed with delight and astonishment at the beauties of the shrine.

Among the discoveries inside the tomb was a vest of gold thread adorned with precious stones and hung with amulets. What hitherto was presumed to be the sled which drew the mummy into the tomb, now is believed to have been the litter used for carrying a sacred boat in the funeral procession, it has four handles.

The chariots are of a small size and not serviceable like those in the outer chamber. The chariots are covered with gold plate and inlaid with colored enamels and stones. The treasures of the inner chambers are bewildering in their number and riches. It will take a long time to examine and sort them, Egyptologists are particularly interested in a gilded box six feet long by four feet, the contents of which are not known, nothing like it has previously been found.

A number of other boxes also remain to be opened but the cover of one which has been lifted revealed a pile of glittering jewels with gold settings resembling those found previously, which are now in the Cairo museum. They are said however to excel in design and workmanship the jewels discovered earlier.

Railway News

Montreal—Automobile accidents are still continuing at a rapid rate despite all the efforts of the railways to prevent them. In one instance at Holland Centre, Ontario, an automobile drove up and stopped on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The driver thought that an approaching train would take another passing track. The driver, realising his mistake, tried to get his car out of the way of the train. But his car was stalled. The engineer was unable to stop the train, with the result that the automobile was smashed and three occupants of the car were injured.

At a crossing on Aylmer Road, near Hull, Quebec, an automobile ran into a Canadian Pacific train. The driver was going too fast to stop his automobile when he saw the train. Two occupants of the automobile were injured.

BROADCASTING FOR MOOSE IN NOVA SCOTIA

Calling the Moose in the Early Morning.

"O-U-O-U-O-U—OU-ERAK!
Ou-u-u-u-u-ou-erak! Light
Light!"

Louie Harlow, Micmac Indian guide, stood up in the stern of the canoe with a birch bark horn pressed to his lips and sprayed the wilderness with this uncanny cry.

"Ou-u-u-u-u-ou-erak! Ou-u-u-u-u-ou-erak!" was the perfectly simulated call of a cow moose.

"Light Ugh!" was the imitation of the grunt of a little bull, and the combination was designed to fool a big male and cause him to appear without unnecessary delay.

Long before the radio was heard of, Nova Scotia guides were broadcasting a moose love song with intent to lure the lordly moose within range of the hunter's rifle.

Louie Harlow, of South Milford, N.S., is the wizard of this wilderness wire-les, and he uses no complicated apparatus. He cuts a likely scroll of bark from a white birch, rolls it into neogaphone form, length about 10 in., and then sews it together with a strong and slender spruce root resembling cat-gut.

No seams can be detected. There are smooth loops at intervals, the whole length on the outside of the horn. Every knot is tied inside, even at the small end.

"How do I do it?" says Louie. "I ain't 'sartin'." Nobody else knows how. These guides have their secret tricks of trade and are proud of a fair share of moose heads, and saved the trip the best holiday they all in it is good, too, except from fishing.

A Fine young Bull Moose that fell to a Bassett's Writers Rifle.

Although there is a vast area of beautiful country in Nova Scotia along the western and southern shores particularly, including the famous Land of Evangeline, the latter is the moose hunter's paradise. There are miles upon miles of lakes, rivers, and forests well populated by moose, deer, bear, and smaller animals. A favorite approach to this region is through South Milford, easily reached via Annapolis Royal.

N.S. by way of Boston and Yarmouth, N.S., or St. John, N.B., and Digby, N.S. The ride from Digby and Annapolis Royal on the Dominion Atlantic Railway to South Milford is by automobile, and from South Milford, the hunter or fisherman, with a few portages, can paddle in a canoe three-quarters of the way across Nova Scotia to the Atlantic Ocean.

The moose season lasts from October 1 to November 15, starting with moose calling and ending with still hunting. A dozen guides, among them such celebrities as Louie Harlow and Sam Glade, both Micmac Indians, work under the direction of A. D. Thomas along the shores of the Liverpool chain of lakes, Kennebec and beyond. Nova Scotia is conserving its moose—a hunter is limited to one bull a year—and the moose country will always be good moose country because that's about all it is good for, except from fishing.

Packing away the rugs after having had their turn on the vacuum.

A FEW hours spent in the Winnipeg Terminal and Vancouver yards of the Canadian Pacific Railway while the dining and passenger trains are being cleaned gives one the assurance that there is little need for others to worry at all, as some are concerned.

The yards are equipped with the very latest devices for the cleaning and equipping of its trains. The same pattern of equipment is in use at Winnipeg, Montreal and Vancouver, and at these three terminals the coaches undergo a thorough cleaning—approximately 110 cars are cleaned Winnipeg per day, and it costs $8.00 to clean each car. When a passenger train arrives at the Winnipeg Terminal, it is run down to the coach yard and every thing movable is taken out. Then commences the cleaning and germ-killing process. The heavier upholstered cushions, pillows and bed blankets are placed under a vacuum cleaner with 90 pounds pressure. This is the first process of cleaning. Then follows the disinfecting. The carpets are placed on a wire netting, which looks not unlike a bed spring only that it moves on wheels. At one end there is a huge roller to which is attached, scores of leather straps, which is referred to, in the yards, as the "cat and 100 tails." This revolves at a terrific force and after the carpet has been twice beaten there is a good chance of any dust remaining. Carpets usually stand this treatment from 18 months to two years. While all this portable stuff is being cleaned, workers are busy inside the car. They do not spare disinfectant or soap and water.

The kitchen tables and ice boxes are aluminum, and all the sauce pans are of copper. When one considers that several hundred meals a day are prepared and served from one of these small kitchens, it is no wonder the direct service is considered one of the most remarkable features in connection with passenger traffic.

There are at present in the entire system 150 dining cars in which approximately 5,000 meals per day are served. Back in the Winnipeg coach yards is the Dining Car supply building and linen department. It is here that bread, rolls, cakes and pastry are made each day to meet the demand for the Buffet and Dining cars. There is a first-class artificial ice plant installed so that the supply of food on hand is kept in perfect condition. Every room is well stocked, with the exception of the wine cellar, which boasts of nothing more than soft drinks. Several seamstresses are busy in the linen room, where the bed and table linen are kept in repair. The linen department of the railway is well stocked. There are in the entire rail service about 242,251 sheets; 204,807 slips; 48,925 cloths; 201,933 table napkins; and 373,267 face towels, as well as many other pieces. The laundry list when checked at the end of each year shows that approximately 35,000,000 pieces go through the wash tubs, at the three big terminals and other divisional points along the line. No steward, cook, waiter, sleeping car conductor or porter, is put on a Canadian Pacific train without having graduated from the school of instruction. They attend lectures, classes every morning until fully qualified to attend to the wants and needs of travelers over the Canadian Pacific.

Opening of Inner Chamber Reveals Pharaoh's Body As Mourners Left It Long Ago

Immense Gilded Canopy, Richly Inscribed Surrounds the Gorgeous Sarcophagus in Which Lies the Body of Tutankhamen Who Died 3000 Years Ago; Discoverers Elated At Newest Treasures Found

LUXOR, Egypt.—Opening of the mortuary chamber in the tomb of King Tutankhamen last Friday showed the king of the pharaohs still to be in the same position in which he was placed by his mourners more than 3,000 years ago.

When the exploring scientists after removing the delicate seal broke their way through the masonry of the inner chamber door, they were confronted with splendors which, upon first cursory examination, appeared to surpass even those of the ante-chamber which have held the interest of the entire world.

The exploring party headed by Howard Carter exclaimed with amazement at finding the centre chamber which is about fourteen feet square occupied by an immense gilded canopy richly inscribed.

The canopy was closed but there is a door and the opening revealed inside what is undoubtedly Tutankhamen's coffin.

For the present, however, this was left undisturbed. A canopy jar, which probably contained the heart and other internal organs of the king, was found inside the canopy.

A feature of the discovery in the inner chamber was a magnificent statue of a cat richly painted, which has stood sentry over the dead pharaoh through the centuries he has lain there. The chamber is filled with splendid furniture in orderly array. It also holds several superb gold chariots, an exquisite ivory anubis box, and many beautiful alabaster vases.

Previous searches of the ante chambers of the tomb of the King Tutankhamen had resulted in things being found worth over Forty Millions of Dollars.

King Tutankhamen's Tomb Dazzling With Its Wonderful Riches

In the opinion of Howard Carter, who has charge of the excavation of the tomb of King Tutankhamen, two years of work are needed in the examination, registration, photographing and treatment of the treasures, which are described as "magnificent and unprecedented in the annals of Egyptology."

There is reason to believe that the tomb will be closed this week and left as it is; the excavators devoting the remainder of the season preparing for removal of the objects now under treatment.

In the fourth chamber, which is as big as the shrine room, untold riches are piled high, these including innumerable boxes and jars, wine vessels, alabaster vases and two beautiful little statues of the king standing on a lion, heavily gilded, one of them shows the king wearing the crown of upper Egypt and the other the crown of lower Egypt, significant of his dual kingdom.

On the ground alongside the canopy a number of paddles were found belonging to sacred model boats, these paddles being about four foot in length.

Between the outer shrine and the first asket are the finest examples of Egyptian jewelry yet discovered. These include numerous scarabs of exquisite workmanship, malachite, lapis-lazuli, and one of red carnelian or jasper, bearing a royal cartouche, the largest yet discovered here.

The treasures include the king's drinking vessel, which is a three-branched alabaster cup shaped like a lotus flower and a gold statue of the sun god Horus.

Within the second is a third enclosing a fourth in which it is now virtually certain King Tutankhamen will be found.

In one corner of the mortuary chamber is a resplendent statue of the Goddess Isis with wings outstretched as though to shelter the dead. There are also a number of sacred boats placed supposedly to enable the royal spirits to reach the world beyond.

The Dry Farmer

When you have farmed in Alta. It is then you will understand The reason we raised that Fortune In this promised land

Thistles in abundance
Scattered and back went too
And say oh boy! the cut stems
That are here as thick as stew
But little in comparison
After all it is said and done
There is still the hail and drought
To put you on the bum

Then figure what your chances are
Of getting that big yield
After working so hard and faithfully
In that dry and dusty field

Sign you pull a bumper boys
In this coming year
Don't lose your hold
And come down with a jolt
Through running in high gear

For you are all have collectors
From North, East, South and West,
Who will sure give you the hunch
To come through with a bunch
To make up for that long rest

We Farmers all like music
But not the kind we get
The noise of the wars that's coming
Is something we can't forget
It divides all our energy

For the future that looked so bright
Of building more new granaries
To store, what, a sight
